On December 28, 2004, Tyson Foods teamed up with the Miami Dolphins and the Kansas City Chiefs to distribute 74,000 pounds of frozen chicken, 370,000 meals, to people in need.

Across America, the week of December 5, 2005, it's going to happen again, even bigger than before. The Luxottica Group, parent company to Lens Crafters and Pearl Vision, will join Tyson Foods, 7 NFL teams, 5 NBA teams, 4 NHL teams and 5 Universities in a united effort to provide humanitarian aid to people in need. Over 2 million meals of frozen chicken as well as free eye examinations and an estimated 30 to 40,000 pairs of prescription glasses will be distributed in a landmark one-day event.
